THE NORFOLK ISLAND GROUP

A biodiversity hotspot and globally recognised 'Important Bird Area' renowned as a breeding site for several 100,000 seabirds, including the Masked Booby, Grey Ternlet, White Tern, Sooty Tern and Wedge-tailed Shearwater. Phillip Island, 7km offshore from Norfolk Island and just 2x2km, supports one of the Southern Hemisphere's largest populations of Red-Tailed Tropic Birds.

As one of the few islands in the Pacific temperate zone founded on a seamount, Norfolk's ecosystem comprises numerous microclimates and coastal, wetland and rainforest environments, supporting a huge variety of native and migratory birds. The island is also home to endemic species such as the Green Parakeet, Golden Whistler, Scarlet Robin and 'Nuffka' – Sacred Kingfisher.
